Subject: Old Artists, New Tastes
Posted by Azuri on Thu, 16 May 2013 17:19:03 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Remember when you were growing up and there were certain types of music you would just not listen to? Now that you're older, do you find yourself listening to them? When I was young you couldn't pay me to listen to jazz, but now I'm a big fan of Norah Jones.

Subject: Re: Old Artists, New Tastes
Posted by gofar99 on Fri, 17 May 2013 03:05:50 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi, Funny how that happens I even have some vintage jazz LPs now.

Subject: Re: Old Artists, New Tastes
Posted by Nisha on Thu, 04 Jul 2013 13:15:15 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

So true, Norah Jones is one of my favorite artists. I also love the music of Michael Buble, Nat King Cole and of course, Louis Armstrong. The interesting part of it all is that I would not even have considered listening to their music ten or fifteen years ago.

Subject: Re: Old Artists, New Tastes
Posted by gofar99 on Thu, 04 Jul 2013 16:50:15 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

In ten more years Lawrence Welk will start to sound good

Subject: Re: Old Artists, New Tastes
Posted by Nymeria on Fri, 05 Jul 2013 14:43:36 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I used to be very biased against country. I still find it hard to listen to most of the time, but occasionally I will run across a song or artist I like. I have found I prefer more "classic" country as opposed to newer stuff.

Subject: Re: Old Artists, New Tastes
Posted by LuvMartin on Thu, 11 Jul 2013 00:30:16 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I also used to hate country music and now that I am older I listen to country music a lot. I still don't like to listen to older country music very much though.

Subject: Re: Old Artists, New Tastes
Posted by Shane on Fri, 02 Aug 2013 23:24:21 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I don't listen to anything different than I did 35 years ago. Still hate country. Still hate rap and hip-hop. Still hate most mainstream top-40 pop. Still listen to blues, some jazz, classical, swing, metal, and rock.
