Subject: Home Security
Posted by Kingfish on Thu, 22 Aug 2013 18:14:03 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

With all the techno gadgets out there, is there a way to hook up an alarm system for your home to your stereo system? What I'm thinking is a specific sound or sounds with adjustable volume that will really catch people off guard and be sure to wake you up. Maybe even your neighbors as well.

Subject: Re: Home Security
Posted by Azuri on Mon, 26 Aug 2013 08:44:07 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That's not a bad idea. The only way it would work, I think, is if a motion sensor triggers the stereo system to turn on. I don't know about waking up the neighbors though. That might be overkill to where it's just rude.