So now Bradley Manning wants to be a woman. I guess he's felt this way for awhile, but only now has gone public with it. I just wonder if the Army will transfer him to another federal prison where he can get the treatment that he feels he needs.

Why did he go public at all? Why should we care what sex he wants to be? Between him and Snowden they shone a light on what the Government does with our privacy, then he says this. Too weird.

I was surprised too. I really don't know if he is serious or if this is some kind of ploy to keep him out of the general populations. It's a pretty extreme step to take.

The army has said that they won't pay for the treatment. Thank goodness for small favors. Why should we pay for his gender reassignment? When he gets out he can get all the treatment he wants on his own dime.

I can think of a way or two to change his gender, it won't be pretty but they do it all the time to animals. (probably ought to go into Dungeon now).
