Hello Wayne, years ago bought the material to achieve the SevenPi.
Time has passed and things have changed, I no longer have the space for that project.
I thought I'd go to the project FourPi, in this case would advance The Eminence Alpha 10 A. I would use this speaker for projects TwoPi or TwoPi tower.
I ask you kindly if you can send me the plans for Four PI and TwoPI, bass reflex / tower.
Thanks in advance.
Paolo from Lake Como

Hi Wayne,

I just joined the board today after surfing the interweb after just discovering some talk about your 4Pi.

Any chance you could also send me plans for your 4Pi?

I think this looks like something I might take on for my next project.

A year and a half or so ago I built a beefed up pair of Cornscallas (based on Bob Crite's Style C) that are now my daily drivers.

<http://www.critesspeakers.com/cornscala-style-c.html>

Right now I am about half way done a Frugal Horn build.

I am anxious to see how the FHs compare to my CS horns.

Conversely, a 4Pi... CS comparo would be VERY interesting.

Have you ever been able to compare your 4Pi with a quality Cornscalla build?

Thanks in advance,
Tom

A BIG thanks to Wayne for passing on the 4Pi plans.

I have read a few of the build threads and there seems to be a ton of helpful info here on the board.

I won't be able to get right on my 4Pi build as I am still trying to finish up my last project, a pair of Frugal Horns.

It probably will not get started until after the new year, but that will give me some time to save up and source the parts.

Although I have already gotten the more costly part done, I picked up a used pair of 2226Hs yesterday via FleaBay.

The JBLs were a bit of an impulse buy after reading the plans Wayne sent me.

I think if we built enough 4Pi's, we would achieve world peace and figure out a solution to global climate change.
