Way too much time on my hands since I had my Mt. Biking restricted. Thought I'd see if handmade Duelund CAST resistors would make a difference across the DE-250s in place of the Mills.

Trouble is, those silver leads look so fragile I'm going to have to get at the boards for the install. Can't have them dangling like the Mills. May as well take another crack at listening without the C2 cap while I'm at it.

Now you're into the really esoteric stuff. Interested to hear what you think.
