With today being the 50th anniversary of the assassination of JFK, they are airing all the conspiracy theory shows. Do you believe the official explanation or do you have a conspiracy theory?

I believe that President Kennedy was assassinated. I believe Lee Harvey Oswald was convicted of the assassination and I believe that only Lee Harvey Oswald knows exactly what happened and why.

It seems we have enough problems without worrying about 50 year old ones. If there was / is a conspiracy then it is so well covered up that it will probably never surface. If not then there is no way to prove it doesn't exist. If not all then nearly all individuals that might have been involved are dead by now. Speculative thinking about the incident is not going to magically solve anything. Let it go.

My thought is that, what if we do actually uncover the truth? What could we actually do with that information? I don't think we could do much at all if agencies like the CIA are involved.

I believe that there was another shooter, but I don't know if I believe that the CIA or any other government agency was involved. I have heard the mob theory and that seems to be a good fit, especially when you consider the fact that Jack Ruby was involved in the mob. His assassination of Oswald could definitely have been a way to shut him up. We will never know. This question is about number 3 on my "List of things to ask God when I die."
