Have you invested in satellite radio or do you listen to local stations? We are fortunate to live in an area where there are several local stations that are worth listening to.

I listen to local stations. I'm just too cheap to pay for satellite services, although having the greater variety would be great. Is satellite radio still ad-free?

Hi, I use satellite as the local stations are trash. The sound quality is not HD, but more than MP3 so fairly good. Nice in the car though. You can drive all over the country and keep the same station on. Plus there is really something for everyone.

For now I'm still local, but in time I will upgrade to satellite. I miss the talk radio shows that don't play on any of the local am stations.
