I set up my full-size keyboard for the first time in months. I can't believe how rusty I've gotten! Songs I used to play with ease are a bit tricky now, but I should improve with practice.

Just keep at it and you'll do fine, I'm sure. Thanks for the reminder though; I haven't touched mine in quite some time either and I need to get back into practice.

It will all come back to you. I went almost a year unable to play my guitar because of nerve damage I received in an accident. You will be amazed at how quickly it will all come back.
