
Subject: All we have left are top 40 stations.
Posted by Pioneer on Tue, 28 Jan 2014 03:09:01 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

We used to have a pretty wide selection of radio stations here. We had a top 40, a classic rock station, a couple of hard rock stations, an easy-listening station, several country stations, a Christian station, and some R&B and rap stations. Now, all we have left are 3 stations, all of which have been bought out and are now Top 40 pop hits. What's happened to all the good stations?!

Subject: Re: All we have left are top 40 stations.
Posted by gofar99 on Tue, 28 Jan 2014 20:43:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi, The answer is economics. The sponsors stopped supporting many because everyone was using smart phone and MP3 players and not listening to radio. Many of the rest of us are using satellite radio or internet. Thus fewer listeners = fewer sponsor dollars and poof the stations go under.

Subject: Re: All we have left are top 40 stations.
Posted by Pioneer on Wed, 29 Jan 2014 11:02:04 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Man, I hate to hear that. I guess I can't blame the sponsors for bailing when the ads aren't paying off anymore but man, we have lost some really good stations over the years. The streaming stuff you can find through apps like iHeart Radio just isn't the same. I miss the old DJs.

Subject: Re: All we have left are top 40 stations.
Posted by Harlow on Fri, 13 Jun 2014 14:42:09 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

This is sort of shocking to me. I had no idea that this was going on. We have everything from classical to oldies to top 40 here. I guess it's because I'm close to a major city? I just didn't realize that this was happening. What a shame.

Subject: Re: All we have left are top 40 stations.
Posted by Maile on Sat, 21 Jun 2014 09:41:04 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

We are the same, mostly pop. I think there is one country station, which is still on the air because there would probably be an outcry if it wasn't. There are still a lot of country music fans in our city. There is one alternative station that the young kids listen to. It's too bad really, since I listen to radio as I drive in to work.

Subject: Re: All we have left are top 40 stations.
Posted by Lizah on Fri, 29 Apr 2016 12:35:01 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

It's the same where I live too. There are only a handful of radio stations left in the area. I just hope that they don't do away with radio altogether. My car isn't equipped with the technology to listen to my iPod.

Subject: Re: All we have left are top 40 stations.
Posted by Airforce 3 on Fri, 13 May 2016 19:09:09 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I was coming home from work this morning and caught quite the surprise. There was a radio station, I honestly can't say what the format is but I doubt that it's top 40, that was playing nothing but songs with the word "luck" or "lucky" in the title. A "tribute" to Friday the 13th I guess. A lot of these songs were decidedly not top 40 material. But then, some were.....

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=G51CWIKLMYE>

This has to be a station in a small town with a good signal judging from where I was and how long the signal stayed with me. There are independent type stations out there, but everyone is right.....they're getting few and far between.
