I love to listen to music and since we don't really have any good radio stations anymore, I figured I'd start using Pandora like everyone else. Should I pay for a membership or is the free version just as good? What are the benefits of going paid?

I'd just stick with the free version. The only difference is that the paid one doesn't have commercials and if you're coming from regular ad-heavy radio, that shouldn't be a big deal.

I agree with Lucky. I would stick to the free version. There are far fewer ads than most radio stations. We tend to use I Heart Radio around here because there is a better selection of "channels".
