Do any of you have a NAS drive at home for either your music, or other media items? How hard was it to set up, and does it manage all of your needs or do you have other systems too?

Yes, we have a NAS drive. It was very easy to set up, allowed us to plug in other drives, and came with software pre-installed that has been very useful. The drive isn't the center of our system, but it works with the other equipment.
