I'm looking for a pair of high quality wireless over-ear headphones and came across a pair of Sennheisers on Amazon. They're $300 so I was wondering if anyone here has them or another pair similar. Are Sennheisers worth $300?

I've not bought these in all honesty, but I love my Sennheiser. That said, if I was looking at spending that amount of money, there are other brands that I would probably be looking at first.

Which brands would you be looking at instead, Audio Clueless? I'm not hung up on Sennheiser so if you think there is a better brand for the money I'm all ears.

I like Bose noise cancelling headphones if I'm honest. We have a very noisy young family, so when I get time to put my feet up and chill I like to do it without the sound of a fire engine in the background.
