
Subject: Hearing Damage

Posted by Samuel on Mon, 10 Feb 2014 17:27:04 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hearing loss seems fairly common among my friends, who were all big festival goers like myself. We all overdid the gigs, and suffered as a result.

Have you found similar, or did you look after your hearing a little better than I did?

Subject: Re: Hearing Damage

Posted by AudioClueless on Tue, 11 Feb 2014 10:21:52 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I'll own up to having abused my hearing. I haven't had a noticeable hearing loss though, rather I have been left with tinnitus. It's annoying but I've learned to live with it.

Subject: Re: Hearing Damage

Posted by Smitty on Wed, 12 Feb 2014 16:20:59 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I tried to protect my hearing as much as possible. I haven't noticed any noticeable hearing loss yet, but anything can happen. I have had bouts of tinnitus, but that's because I have TMJ and not from any abuse of my ears. Audio, I agree it is very annoying!

Subject: Re: Hearing Damage

Posted by Pioneer on Thu, 13 Feb 2014 21:54:30 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I spent too many years going to concerts every month and listening to music on headphones every night. I know I've done damage to my hearing! When I was young, I didn't even think about stuff like hearing loss. I'm probably lucky to still have what hearing is left!

Subject: Re: Hearing Damage

Posted by AudioClueless on Fri, 14 Feb 2014 11:18:13 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I don't think that anyone really considers their hearing, or what may happen when they're older when they are enjoying their younger years. It's a shame really, because I was warned of all of this, but I just brushed it off.

Subject: Re: Hearing Damage
Posted by Lazarus K. on Sun, 20 Apr 2014 22:04:25 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Apart from my hearing haven been damaged by noise from those extremely loud speakers at concerts and discos, my doctor identified part of my hearing loss as originating from antibiotic abuse.

Subject: Re: Hearing Damage
Posted by Round2 on Tue, 22 Apr 2014 01:38:26 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Pioneer wrote on Thu, 13 February 2014 15:54I spent too many years going to concerts every month and listening to music on headphones every night. I know I've done damage to my hearing! When I was young, I didn't even think about stuff like hearing loss. I'm probably lucky to still have what hearing is left!
I know what you mean about concerts. Too many years of concerts and standing by the speakers have done some damage. My better half played in a band when he was younger and has noticeable hearing loss to show for it. We never thought about what the loud music was doing to us at the time.

Subject: Re: Hearing Damage
Posted by Rockstar on Fri, 25 Apr 2014 22:50:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I'm in the same boat. I wish I would have protected my ears better when I was younger. I now try to wear ear plugs when I'm around loud things (we cut wood in the summer and I always wear them around the chainsaw). I keep telling my kids that they will be deaf like me if they don't turn their music down!

Subject: Re: Hearing Damage
Posted by Round2 on Sat, 26 Apr 2014 12:58:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I think the damage is already done for some of these kids today. I walk by them and can hear their music clearly from their headphones and earbuds. That tells me they are blasting that music in their ears.

Subject: Re: Hearing Damage
Posted by Nisha on Sat, 26 Apr 2014 22:24:24 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I am also suffering from partial loss of hearing, and I did not even attend loud rock concerts and other similar events. I did however turn the volume of my earphones probably too high while working on my computer - day and night, year after year.

Fortunately with technology advancing so rapidly, we now have the option of micro-implants to aid our hearing. I have to admit, it will take a lot to get me to wear large, visible hearing aids.
