Subject: Books
Posted by Iceage on Tue, 11 Feb 2014 17:17:46 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Radio has changed a great deal over the years, and recently seems to have lost popularity. Do you think that books will go the same way, replaced instead by digital books?

Subject: Re: Books
Posted by timron on Wed, 12 Feb 2014 22:23:18 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I think they will to a certain extent, yes. I think some people will always prefer "real" books over digital ones, but I've already transitioned to a Kindle myself. They're just so much easier for me to read on since you can adjust the text size, backlighting, font style, etc.

Subject: Re: Books
Posted by Kenwoody on Tue, 18 Feb 2014 21:50:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I've wondered this myself ever since the Nook and Kindle came out, but I don't know. There are still shelves full of books in both bookstores in town. I think some people are always going to prefer paper books to digital ones.

Subject: Re: Books
Posted by Samuel on Thu, 20 Feb 2014 10:07:28 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Digital books lack the tangibility that a physical book has. That said, there are benefits to the digital books, including the lack of storage space needed, and the lack of resources. I think that these factors will eventually help digital books to take over.