Any Audible users here? I have the regular, one book per month subscription, and I tend to buy the 3 extra credits when they go on sale too. I've been with them for over a year now.

Did you know you can return books that you hate? A couple per year I think. I returned two just now that were awful, for my credit back. The service is top notch!

I'm not an Audible user but I've been seriously considering it. How much does a membership cost? Do you own the books or are you basically renting them?

I don't belong to Audible because I am really not a fan of audio books. They can be good for people who have long commutes though. I prefer the real books if I am going to read. I don't process it as well when it is being read to me.
