We had an undercover child sex sting going here in the state and it netted, among others, an elementary school principal. I am absolutely disgusted right now. Are our kids not safe anywhere anymore?!

Wow. That's just disgusting. It makes you wonder if he took advantage of any of the children that he was charged with watching over as the principal of an elementary school.

I hope they throw the book at him.

It really is scary when things like this happen. Unfortunately, schools can check for a criminal background before hiring, but it doesn't do any good unless they have been caught before. I don't know how anybody can even find a child sexually appealing.
