We are leaving to head to Florida on Friday and the packing process is so time consuming. I wish we could go on vacation without having to do it. It probably would not be as big a deal, but we have had to dig out the summer clothes from the basement.

Boy do I know what you mean! We just moved at the beginning of the year and what a pain it was! Packing for vacation is quite that bad, but it's close! How long will your vacation be?
