Subject: It's like magic
Posted by lon on Wed, 06 Oct 2004 19:34:32 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

In other discussions here I mentioned the use of The WaybackMachine to retreive broken links and websites that produce'not found' errors. Today I actually used it to find some info on a firm ofcity planners in a link page from James Howard Kunstler(recommended author on the subjects of living in anoil culture which is soon to end and urban planning.) The info at The Wayback Machine is as complete as they claim. Here's the link again:
Wayback Machine from the American Library Assn.

Subject: Re: It's like magic
Posted by Wayne Parham on Wed, 06 Oct 2004 22:29:42 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That's a pretty cool database. Thanks for the link!