I was walking out of work today and somehow I cut myself. I don't know what I did, but all of a sudden I looked down and there was blood literally dripping off my finger. Luckily, I had Bandaids in the car!

It once again confirms that we only feels pain some time after a wound caused by a knife, bullet or other object that can penetrate the flesh. I trust all is fine now?

That is odd that you didn't feel yourself being cut. Sometimes I will get paper cuts that I don't feel but find bleed really bad. Maybe you grabbed a door or leaned against something and cut yourself.
