I live in Upstate New York and it snowed again yesterday. I'm kidding you not. It was goegeous all weekend with temps in the 70's. Yesterday we saw a high of 42 and it snowed. What gives? I think Mother Nature is mad at us for something.

Anyone else having really weird weather?

Hi, We Have just the opposite problem. Here south of Tucson AZ, it has been a really odd winter. Will it ever rain? Nothing significant since October. Usually we get several inches in the winter. Not this year. It really never got cold either.

I am living in Cape Town. It is supposed to be Autumn, yet two weekends ago we had a mini-heatwave for a few days, 96 degrees Fahrenheit. I agree, the world and weather is upside down.
