Hi Everyone, hardly any posts for some time. Have the Dog Days come early or is everyone just so busy coming up with new projects? Vacations? We just came back from ours and it seems we just made it in time. Everywhere we went is now getting horrible weather. (do we have some hidden power over the weather?). Here though while nice and clear it was 97 yesterday. Our first 100+ is due next week. Ugh. On the bright side...I'm learning about web site creation and modification. On that I have a longish way to go. I may be the owner of the existing site but it was professionally done with Dreamweaver and that is a bit over my head right now.
