My dad had a birthday recently, so I bought him Cheap Trick tickets. He's a big classic rock fan and it's one of the few bands he hasn't seen, so I'm currently his favorite kid. Do you ever buy concert tickets as gifts?

That was nice of you. I am sure he really appreciated it. I have never bought concert tickets as a gift before. I am not sure why I have never thought of it.

Yes, he really liked it. You probably haven't considered buying tickets as gifts because normally they are super expensive! This particular show was really affordable, though, so I was able to get the tickets.
