It's been raining heavily every day for about a week. I hate it! The first few days were rather nice, but now I'm so tired of the rain and unfortunately it doesn't look to be stopping any time soon.

We had a long stretch of rain, too. It's finally broken but it's still unseasonably humid here. =/ I can't wait for cooler weather to kick in!

We finally kicked the rain and it's been pretty nice since then, although I wish it were a little bit cooler. I'm just so happy to see the sun though.

I am starting to think that we're going to have a very mild winter here in the southeast; we're halfway through October and it's still hot enough 24/7 to justify running the air conditioner all the time. I really don't want this to be one of those years that we are still running the air on Thanksgiving or Christmas!

Hi, I just came through Colorado on I70. They closed it last night because of a very early snow fall. It was 25 at the Vail Pass today. A shock to my system. Where I live it was in the upper 70's to low 80's today. Funky weather for sure.

I would love to see some snow, personally. Where I live it's very rare that we'll see any snow. Mostly we see ice if anything at all, and then it's more of a nuisance than anything because it weighs the power lines down and usually knocks our power out for a few days.
