
Subject: Background Music

Posted by audioaudio90 on Mon, 06 Oct 2014 14:39:27 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I've gotten so used to background music in businesses that it creeps me out when I'm in one that isn't playing any. It's just too silent and makes the place seem less hospitable. Do you feel the same way?

Subject: Re: Background Music

Posted by AFreed52 on Mon, 06 Oct 2014 21:19:01 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I suppose it depends on what type of music is playing. In truth, I'm mainly concerned with just conducting whatever business I have, and then leaving. The music is incidental.

Subject: Re: Background Music

Posted by Nymeria on Wed, 08 Oct 2014 14:08:11 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

It depends on the place, but generally if I'm going to spend more than 2 minutes there, yes, I will notice. I particularly hate no background music at restaurants.

Subject: Re: Background Music

Posted by audiophile88 on Thu, 09 Oct 2014 01:26:11 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I'm the same way. I've got to have background noise of some type going all the time, pretty much regardless of where I'm at. I keep either music or the TV going all the time when I'm at home or in the car.

Subject: Re: Background Music

Posted by Pioneer on Wed, 15 Oct 2014 00:20:22 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I think almost everyone has gotten used to hearing some type of noise all throughout the day. Silence is almost unnerving to me if I am at work, in the car, etc. The only time I really want total silence is at night when I'm sitting on the front porch or when I'm trying to go to sleep.

Subject: Re: Background Music

Posted by Finn on Mon, 11 Apr 2016 15:06:06 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I find this to be really strange too. It's like when I go to Wal-Mart and then walk into Target. It always creeps me out that it's so silent in there. It makes you not even want to talk loudly, like you're in a library.

Subject: Re: Background Music
Posted by PlayerNM on Sat, 03 Jun 2017 03:06:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Absolutely! I can't stand to be stuck in a silent office! It is creepy. I think you can play something appropriate that the client would like too! It makes them feel more at home.

Subject: Re: Background Music
Posted by Bert on Sun, 04 Jun 2017 18:20:05 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I naturally feel odd if music isn't playing somewhere, purely because I'm always listening to music whether at home, the gym, the car, the shower, and everywhere else.

Subject: Re: Background Music
Posted by vhfspeaks on Tue, 06 Jun 2017 18:52:51 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

If I'm busy or working on something that takes concentration I'll turn it off so I can focus. If I am just sitting around, then I like to have some music on.

Subject: Re: Background Music
Posted by Saxon on Tue, 27 Jun 2017 15:07:22 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

If you become accustomed to anything then it will feel weird when it's not happening. So, yea, it's probably weird for a lot of people who love music when it's not on.
