My spouse and I are on two completely different schedules; this has me up and watching TV when he is asleep and him up watching TV a lot when I am asleep. To keep from disturbing each other, we're thinking of getting a good pair of headphones that we could plug into the TV. What would you guys recommend specifically for this purpose?

I like AKG headphones, but I don't know if they come with a 1/8" stereo plug. If you got them you might have to get a 1/4" to 1/8" adapter.
