We just moved into a new house. I love it because it is wide open. On our second floor, we have a huge loft. I am going to put the home theater in the loft. I have a contractor coming Saturday to make the floor plan.

Oh I am so jealous! How big is the new house? We bought a new home a couple of months ago. 2,000 square feet. I am not sure where we are going to put the home theater. I am thinking the basement.

Congrats on the house; I'm counting down the days until we can move out of our apartment and kiss our renting days goodbye!

How'd your loft theater turn out?

I would like to know as well. I'm starting the plans for a system in my garage and I'm thinking the "sound challenges" may be similar to that of a loft in a house. Sound placement and everything.
