Subject: Has your music taste changed over the years?
Posted by Round2 on Sun, 22 Feb 2015 01:05:16 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

My music has changed to more alternative music from the rock of my youth. I like really good lyrics with meaning than silly and empty lyrics. Has your taste in music changed much?

Subject: Re: Has your music taste changed over the years?
Posted by Godatgames on Fri, 18 Dec 2015 00:25:28 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

When I was young I was surrounded by country music, but I just never got into it, and as I grew up I learned about rock and heavy metal and I've been a diehard fan ever since.

Subject: Re: Has your music taste changed over the years?
Posted by Kenwoody on Fri, 18 Dec 2015 02:08:17 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yes, my taste in music has definitely changed as I've gotten older! I've grown to like different types of metal, as I was saying in another thread, and I've also grown to like country. I wasn't a fan of either when I was younger.

Subject: Re: Has your music taste changed over the years?
Posted by Lizah on Thu, 31 Dec 2015 15:24:19 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

My taste in music has not changed that much over the years. I still like the same three bands and I still listen to the same genre. I grew up in the nineties, so it was a lot of punk and alternative grunge; I'm still a huge fan of that type of music.

Subject: Re: Has your music taste changed over the years?
Posted by Kenwoody on Fri, 01 Jan 2016 20:26:37 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Lizah wrote on Thu, 31 December 2015 09:24My taste in music has not changed that much over the years. I still like the same three bands and I still listen to the same genre. I grew up in the nineties, so it was a lot of punk and alternative grunge; I'm still a huge fan of that type of music.

I still like a lot of the same bands I liked when I was younger, but as I've aged my taste has expanded a lot. Which three bands are you speaking of? Maybe I like them, too.