Subject: Any advice for child proofing?
Posted by iLoveiPod on Fri, 05 Feb 2016 19:08:49 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have a 14 month old who's into everything! We need to child proof all the components of our stereos (two in total) and hide the wires ASAP. Any advice??

Subject: Re: Any advice for child proofing?
Posted by Chase on Mon, 15 Feb 2016 21:25:26 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

My grandfather's response to a question like that was always "a swift kick to the rear", although I never once recall getting so much as a finger slap from Gramps and I was a pretty ornery kid.

When my nephew was that age his father and I built shelves for the wall above the TV to set the components on. We ran the wiring along the edge of a long mirror that hung on the wall and covered the majority of the wiring.

Subject: Re: Any advice for child proofing?
Posted by Azuri on Mon, 22 Feb 2016 06:20:25 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

For the wires you can find those plastic protectors that you see in offices that run on the floor. If you can, place them along the floor where it meets the wall.

Subject: Re: Any advice for child proofing?
Posted by Lizah on Sat, 27 Feb 2016 14:41:52 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

When my daughter was younger we found an entertainment center that enclosed everything, including hiding the wires in the back. We even put those locking tabs on the inside so that she couldn't open the doors.