I found this the other day and scrambled around looking for my headphones. If you have some, I would use them. It does make a difference.

I scored at the 85 mark. 12100 Hz. I blame that Aerosmith concert in the mid 80's.

The things we find on the magic Google machine. Amazing. That was a pretty neat test though. I scored a little higher than you, but not by much.

11,900. That concert, was that the one where Rose Tattoo did the opening set?

I might find another test or two and compare results so I can see how accurate it is.

Thank you though, that was pretty cool.
