

---

Subject: The Color Question

Posted by Vaiger on Mon, 07 Mar 2016 19:05:36 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Colors and music represent and reflect moods respectively. That being the case, how much does the color(s) of a music studio effect the creativity of the musicians?

---

---

Subject: Re: The Color Question

Posted by Lizah on Mon, 14 Mar 2016 17:58:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Interesting thought. I've never really thought about this one. I bet it has a lot to do with how a musician performs or what they write about. I think purple is the color of imagination, but I don't know many people that want purple rooms.

---

---

Subject: Re: The Color Question

Posted by Vaiger on Sat, 19 Mar 2016 19:54:20 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Lizah wrote on Mon, 14 March 2016 12:58Interesting thought. I've never really thought about this one. I bet it has a lot to do with how a musician performs or what they write about. I think purple is the color of imagination, but I don't know many people that want purple rooms.

Since being creative is part of what I do for a paycheck, I don't think it would be a bad idea. There are nice shades that are not too "in your face" dark or garish.

---