Subject: Outdoor listening
Posted by Thaddeus on Tue, 22 Mar 2016 13:04:57 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Now that spring is finally here I've been thinking about installing some type of audio equipment outdoors in my yard. What is the best option for doing something like this? I don't want anything that will be too loud since I have neighbors.

Subject: Re: Outdoor listening
Posted by Kingfish on Tue, 22 Mar 2016 22:37:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

http://www.outdoorspeakerdepot.com/rockspeaker.html?utm_source=bing&utm_medium=cpc&utm_campaign=ECI%20-%20Rock%20Speakers&utm_term=rock%20speakers&utm_content=Rock%20Speakers

They are not wireless but people hook these up all the time. Just make sure your receiver or other stereo components are protected form the elements.

Subject: Re: Outdoor listening
Posted by Finn on Wed, 06 Apr 2016 17:36:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I really like the look of these, Kingfish. They would make a nice addition to my yard and it's great that you can't really tell that they are speakers. It would be nice if they had a wireless option, though.

Subject: Re: Outdoor listening
Posted by LoveJB on Wed, 20 Apr 2016 17:23:05 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That is great. I could use these too but I would want wireless too. I'm looking for something for my back yard - it's about 500 feet away from any electrical outlet. I'm going to look for something like this that is wireless.