Lately we have several online karaoke apps getting popular, at least among my friends. They are mostly Smule users and they can even sing with people they don't know before. It seems pretty fun though I haven't tried it myself. Have you?

This is a good reason for me to try this app out. It looks like a very interesting development. I just love the way nothing is impossible in the internet nowadays.

How does it work? Does the working app act like a karaoke machine.....you sing into and then your voice is broadcast to whomever is logged into that app?
