Subject: Musique Nomade
Posted by Azuri on Thu, 28 Jul 2016 12:27:31 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

This is a female quartet out of Canada that sings traditional music of native Canadian tribes. I found the site by accident and thought it was a nice, little gem amid what can be seen as the clutter of the internet.

http://www.musiquenomade.com/home-page#!/rising-moon

Subject: Re: Musique Nomade
Posted by Nouri on Wed, 03 Aug 2016 13:16:27 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I love stuff like that. Not specifically that type of music, which is just fine, but small, unheard of people making music. Music can be inspiring regardless of the source.

Subject: Re: Musique Nomade
Posted by Concorde on Fri, 05 Aug 2016 12:11:33 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Want to hear something relevant to an empty freeway in the western U.S. at 2 in the morning? I think that quartet fits the bill. It's spooky, but it's a good kind of spooky.

Subject: Re: Musique Nomade
Posted by moss24 on Fri, 05 Aug 2016 18:30:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The quartet is bold and determined in choosing a path many people would not follow by any chance and I think finding purpose is of utmost importance in this life. I am sure a native Canadian will really enjoy this.

Subject: Re: Musique Nomade
Posted by Concorde on Fri, 05 Aug 2016 18:34:06 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Their marketing seems to be top-notch as well. That is a very good way to gain a cult following. Something like this will never be mainstream, but everything about them seems professional and heart-felt.