
Subject: What do you think about musicals?
Posted by Gemmel on Fri, 23 Dec 2016 10:29:31 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have a lot of friends who find musicals so boring and they refuse to sit through one with me, but I love them and I prefer them to most other types of movies. What's your take?

Subject: Re: What do you think about musicals?
Posted by Ssal on Fri, 23 Dec 2016 10:32:36 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Some musicals are better than othes, and maybe you just need to expose your friends to some of the more exciting and fun ones you've seen. I didn't like them in the beginning but now I do after watching Chigago and Burlesque.

Subject: Re: What do you think about musicals?
Posted by Kenzie on Sun, 01 Jan 2017 13:08:28 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I love musicals. I remember going to see a few live in college when my friends were performing. That really got me hooked. Also, if you've ever seen one on Broadway, you'll be amazed at the quality of the performers.

Subject: Re: What do you think about musicals?
Posted by PianoGrrl on Sat, 07 Jan 2017 16:42:28 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I love musicals, especially when I can sit back and pick out how they have worked the themes through the soundtrack and into the songs. Disney's Hunchback of Notre Dame was really good for this, but I've got DVDs from Bugsy Malone to Chicago and they all handle it differently.

In the theatre, musicals can be really amazing, depending on the direction. Cats wasn't as good as I'd expected, but Chicago in the theatre was amazing.
