

---

Subject: Night Music And Day Music
Posted by Azuri on Wed, 11 Jan 2017 18:24:47 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Have you noticed if there is a difference in your preferred listening habits in the day and then in the night?

For instance, are you more prone to listen to easygoing music in the nighttime and louder, faster music in the daytime?

---

---

Subject: Re: Night Music And Day Music
Posted by Finn on Thu, 12 Jan 2017 14:55:28 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I do notice this sometimes. There are also times that it depends on what kind of day I'm having. Sometimes I just can't listen to fast music at all because I'm already stressed out. Have you ever noticed this before?

---

---

Subject: Re: Night Music And Day Music
Posted by PianoGrrl on Fri, 13 Jan 2017 07:55:35 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I'm the opposite. During the day when I feel stressed about work and need to stay calm I'll listen to something slow and peaceful. Once I'm off work and can cut loose, it will be something fast with a beat, or jazz!

---

---

Subject: Re: Night Music And Day Music
Posted by Kingfish on Fri, 13 Jan 2017 19:10:25 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

It all depends on my mood. Mostly, I'll listen to something quiet when I get off work, but if I had a rough day I'll need Motley Crue at 3 in the morning to calm me down.

---

---

Subject: Re: Night Music And Day Music
Posted by Gemmel on Fri, 13 Jan 2017 20:37:45 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Actually, for us night owls, I find that I'm the opposite. I relax a lot during the day and I get lots of energy at night and that is reflected in my music tastes.

---

---

Subject: Re: Night Music And Day Music
Posted by bcharlton on Thu, 19 Jan 2017 07:10:57 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Azuri wrote on Wed, 11 January 2017 12:24Have you noticed if there is a difference in your preferred listening habits in the day and then in the night?

For instance, are you more prone to listen to easygoing music in the nighttime and louder, faster music in the daytime?

I prefer to listen to louder music during the day and calm music at night. I agree that it may depend on the mood at a particular point in time. There are instances where I never want to listen to any kind of music.

---

---

Subject: Re: Night Music And Day Music
Posted by sawyer25 on Sun, 22 Jan 2017 14:46:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I guess we all have preferences. Interestingly, I prefer calm music irrespective of whether it is day or night. Loud music literally disorganizes my mind, so to speak.

---