Subject: Midwest Audio Fest
Posted by Brad Kizer on Wed, 31 Dec 2003 01:58:41 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I sent an email to the people that handled the Lima,OH show and was informed they would not be having one this year. Does anyone know of any other show coming up in the near future?

Subject: Re: Midwest Audio Fest
Posted by Wayne Parham on Wed, 31 Dec 2003 06:06:18 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yeah, I'm bummed that Mike isn't wanting to do the show this year. But I understand - It's a big undertaking.There are a group of guys planning a Great Plains Audiofest as a yearly event, and I'm hoping to see it fill the spring slot, since VSAC seems to fill the fall spot. Seems a little bit soon to put it all together by spring for this year, but I don't know. Anyway, I'm sure you'll see word about it here.

Subject: Re: Midwest Audio Fest
Posted by big-eyed beans from venus on Fri, 02 Jan 2004 05:17:27 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi Brad,While there will be no Midwest Audio Fest in 2004, Venus Hi-Fi will be hosting the 2005 installment. The event will most likely be held in Bloomington, Indiana. I'll try to keep folks posted as we work out the particulars...Cheers,Brian

Subject: Re: Midwest Audio Fest
Posted by Wayne Parham on Fri, 02 Jan 2004 06:03:00 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi Brian!I'd like to see the events - VSAC, VMAF and GPAF - be non-overlapping events. Since VSAC is in the fall, that leaves spring and summer. Seems like a great idea for you to have the Venus MAF in one season and the GPAF folks in the other. Or perhaps VMAF and GPAF can be rolled into one event in alternating central states.What do you think?Wayne

Subject: Re: Midwest Audio Fest
Posted by Brad Kizer on Fri, 02 Jan 2004 13:50:22 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi Brian,Sounds good to me! Hopefully the promoters of this event won't mind having some SS equipment present to round things out. :-) We'll be looking for further updates.Thanks,Brad

Subject: Rocky Mountain Audio Fest
Posted by Wayne1 on Fri, 02 Jan 2004 15:56:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Ron Welborne has gotten together with some of the local folks and is putting together the Rocky Mountain Audio Fest in October this year.Check out the site for a list of people who have already signed up.It does look to be a lot of fun.
Rocky Mountain Audio Fest

Subject: Re: Rocky Mountain Audio Fest
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sat, 03 Jan 2004 00:24:55 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Ron Welborne strikes me as being a class act too. I'll bet each of these pockets of activity - RMAF, VMAF and GPAF - will be a great time.Seems to me that having several events in different areas is good, because it allows more people to attend at least one of them.