I've just been emailed about a re-release of several classic albums in vinyl, including George Harrison's complete collection, Fleetwood Mac, David Bowie etc. They've all been done by Abbey Road from the original masters.

I see it as a chance to fill some gaps in my collection. Is anyone else going to be looking out for these, or would you prefer to get the originals?

My originals could use upgrading, especially all the old Elton John records from the 70's. Vinyl has seen an increase in popularity over the past 5 or so years, so this should go well.
