

---

Subject: Choosing a stand

Posted by drake on Sun, 09 Apr 2017 08:16:35 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

A tangled mess of cables and or wires sticking from all over the home theater is usually a disturbing site, or is it just me? I hear people talk of style as being the most important factor when choosing a stand. For me, cable conduits matter to a great extent. I love to have the whole place looking neat.

---

---

Subject: Re: Choosing a stand

Posted by Kingfish on Tue, 11 Apr 2017 09:01:10 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I'm sorry, but I'm wandering around getting lost while trying to find your point. Why did you title this topic "Choosing A Stand", when you think cables are more important?

Personally, a person can buy the most beautiful stand the world has ever known, but if there's a mess of wires behind it then the beauty is diminished.

---

---

Subject: Re: Choosing a stand

Posted by drake on Tue, 11 Apr 2017 17:04:50 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Kingfish wrote on Tue, 11 April 2017 04:01 I'm sorry, but I'm wandering around getting lost while trying to find your point. Why did you title this topic "Choosing A Stand", when you think cables are more important?

Personally, a person can buy the most beautiful stand the world has ever known, but if there's a mess of wires behind it then the beauty is diminished.

My point is I don't see the point of people choosing a home theater stand and not minding the whole mess. Have you seen those stands with a conduit meant to get rid of all the mess? I hope you now get my argument.

---