Most of us have a room in our house dedicated to listening to music. I know I do. So do you have your room outfitted to match the music you listen to? Like if you listen to country, is the room "themed" in a country style?

I had this idea in mind but I'm one of the people that listen to different genres of music. I guess it'd be very tricky to choose a theme that suits my taste.

I don't have a themed room, either, but I think I like the sound of that. The only problem is that I'm one of those people who like a lot of different genres depending on what mood I'm in, so I think that room would be a source of frustration for me a lot of the time.

A funny thing, my room is themed in a way that is not related to the music I like. It is a "South Western" theme. I prefer more contemporary music.

My room is also not themed to suit any kind of music but I see how this is a good and creative idea. I'd like to see how yours looks.
