Subject: Speaker Cones
Posted by Kingfish on Wed, 19 Apr 2017 18:35:48 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

If you are building your own system, does it matter what type of metal...aluminum, etc... you use to build the spine of the cone? Does this part of the speaker play a lot into the final sound?

Subject: Re: Speaker Cones
Posted by Wayne Parham on Wed, 19 Apr 2017 20:24:05 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yes, the diaphragm material matters. the material and shape affect the frequency and amplitude of cone flex breakup modes.