This is such a cliched topic, but it's definitely an easy won to get into. So what's your favorite movie. Mine is definitely Twilight (don't make fun of me.) In case you need to know, I was Team Edward.

I tend not to have a consistent favorite. However, movies from Stanley Kubrick's filmography do tend to routinely find their way near the top. Particularly 2001: A Space Odyssey and The Shining.

I also really love Akira, from Katsuhiro Otomo. That one in particular really broadened my interest in the medium when I first saw it, and I can re-watch it any time and become totally engrossed in it.

Monolime, you have great taste in film. Like you, I don't have a consistent taste in movies either. Anything that isn't a horror movie works for me.
