I love Bluetooth speakers, they are my absolute favorite. However, I must admit that the hassle with portable Bluetooth speakers is keeping them charged. They always seem to die on me when I need them the most. Does anyone else have this problem?

I have that problem a lot, because either I forget to keep them charged or the internal batteries go and stop holding a charge. Its why I prefer the ones which take AA batteries. I can use rechargeables and if they go flat when I am out, I can buy new ones.
