

---

Subject: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?
Posted by WorkingWoman2017 on Sun, 23 Jul 2017 22:37:44 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I have learned to play many instruments, including, clarinet, bass clarinet, sax, flute and piano. If you asked me what was the easiest for me to learn I think it was the flute. I learned this instrument second after the clarinet and my abilities with that were a big boost to learning the flute. What about you?

---

---

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?
Posted by Red2017 on Sun, 23 Jul 2017 22:47:40 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I'm not very musical personally but I do know how to play the Kazu. My tones may not be best but I really love doing it. It is also a great thing to start out a child on. They really like doing it.

---

---

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?
Posted by Bert on Mon, 24 Jul 2017 00:21:21 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I have also played many instruments and enjoyed most of them, though a lot of them were hard to play. However, the easiest one for me to learn was probably the recorder.

---

---

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?
Posted by Bert on Mon, 24 Jul 2017 00:22:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I have also played many instruments and enjoyed most of them, though a lot of them were hard to play. However, the easiest one for me to learn was probably the recorder.

---

---

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?
Posted by Acacia on Mon, 02 May 2022 17:53:49 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Learning how to play the recorder is the easiest because I remember I was in elementary when I had to learn it. It's funny cause I only recently learned that it is different from a flute.

---

---

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?
Posted by Beck on Fri, 13 May 2022 16:54:19 GMT

---

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

The piano is probably the easiest to learn for me because all you have to do is know the notes. It's not that difficult compared to other instruments since it's similar to playing the keyboard. Like all others, it's also easy to forget when you don't play regularly.

---

---

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?

Posted by Dropuc on Tue, 05 Jul 2022 13:31:18 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I have tried quite a number like the piano and the drum, but I discovered to learn fast, the portability of an instrument comes into play to make it an easy one. Thus, the flute, the guitar, and mostly the Tamborine are the easiest for me.

---

---

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?

Posted by Dropuc on Thu, 07 Jul 2022 12:26:12 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I have tried quite a number like the piano and the drum, but I discovered to learn fast, the portability of an instrument comes into play to make it an easy one. Thus, the flute, the guitar, and mostly the tamborine are the easiest for me.

---

---

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?

Posted by billy37 on Thu, 14 Jul 2022 15:24:28 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Can you give me some piece of advice? I want to learn to play the keyboard. I have this mini one. I'm wondering if there's any good software that can teach you via midi and games etc. I remember when I learned to touch type, I used some software which was very good at teaching you with games and tests. is there anything like this for learning to play the keyboard? it doesn't need to have games or anything but it must be something that tells you what to play and then recognizes your midi input and gives you feedback. something along those lines.

---

---

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?

Posted by tedslist on Thu, 21 Jul 2022 08:03:41 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Hi there. If it helps, we have three articles that are specifically about choosing the easiest instrument; all written by world-class professional musicians.

If you're looking for a string instrument, you could visit:

<https://teds-list.com/tutorial/easiest-string-instrument-to-learn/>

If you're looking to play a wind instrument, take a look at:

<https://teds-list.com/tutorial/easiest-wind-instrument-to-learn/>

Finally, if you're wanting to play a brass instrument, take a look here.

Or if you still do not know what instrument to learn, we have a great article called 10 Tips To Quickly Figure Out What Instrument You Should Be Playing <https://teds-list.com/tutorial/10-tips-to-quickly-figure-out-what-instrument-you-should-be-playing/> that you should like.

I do hope this is helpful, and we have a great comments section where you can ask any question and a pro musician will answer.

Good luck!

Robert Emery

Founder of Ted's List <https://teds-list.com/tutorial/how-to-choose-the-right-brass-instrument/>

---