Subject: Packing your system
Posted by cwemoy on Thu, 27 Jul 2017 17:10:57 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I hate moving houses because of the amount of work and time packing consumes. It is important to always unplug all wires from all outlets and arrange them neatly. What other tips do you have?

Subject: Re: Packing your system
Posted by gofar99 on Thu, 27 Jul 2017 20:48:12 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi, I put things that are sensitive in plastic bags. That way it protects them from dust and water. You can never tell how careful movers will be or where your stuff will be stored. Also a good idea if you move it yourself.

Subject: Re: Packing your system
Posted by sawyer25 on Sun, 03 Sep 2017 10:18:42 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I agree that anything that's sensitive has to be packed really well. I remember losing home theatre screws some time back just because the movers misplaced them. You need to neatly package and label these correctly.