Subject: What matters most to you?
Posted by Frankie on Thu, 21 Sep 2017 03:37:56 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

There are so many more things to consider with making a decision about a home theater system to purchase than I originally thought. So I'm wondering, what's most important to you? Quality? Price? Easy set-up? A certain feature?

Subject: Re: What matters most to you?
Posted by moss24 on Tue, 26 Sep 2017 15:55:46 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I stopped caring about the brand so for me, quality and ease of set up come first. Price is secondary since I wouldn't mind going for something pricey, if it met all the conditions I was looking for.

Subject: Re: What matters most to you?
Posted by Ziggy on Sat, 30 Sep 2017 00:08:32 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I don't really care what brand either. I remember the first time I heard a really kick-ass home theater system. It was so cool that the cars went from one side of the room to the other. It made the whole experience so much better. Now, I just like it if the sound does that and the music isn't ruined.

Subject: Re: What matters most to you?
Posted by Azuri on Sat, 30 Sep 2017 16:27:42 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

What matters most to me is having a system where everything is in one place. The television screen, music system (CD player, record player, cassette player and 8-track player), speakers and storage for the liquor.

They used to make them like that you know.

What matters most to me is the quality of sound.

Subject: Re: What matters most to you?
Posted by Frankie on Mon, 02 Oct 2017 03:12:28 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

moss24 wrote on Tue, 26 September 2017 10:55I stopped caring about the brand so for me, quality and ease of set up come first. Price is secondary since I wouldn't mind going for something pricey, if it met all the conditions I was looking for.

That makes a lot of sense. High prices can definitely be worth it if you're really getting what you pay for and not just a brand name.

Ziggy wrote on Fri, 29 September 2017 19:08I don't really care what brand either. I remember the first time I heard a really kick-ass home theater system. It was so cool that the cars went from one side of the room to the other. It made the whole experience so much better. Now, I just like it if the sound does that and the music isn't ruined.

That's what happened with me! I was at my friend's house where they have an awesome system and I just knew that's what I needed. I haven't heard complaints about music getting ruined before. What do you mean?

Azuri wrote on Sat, 30 September 2017 11:27What matters most to me is having a system where everything is in one place. The television screen, music system (CD player, record player, cassette player and 8-track player), speakers and storage for the liquor.

They used to make them like that you know.

What matters most to me is the quality of sound.

Hahaha, storage for the liquor! Now that's something I hadn't thought about but obviously now need.

Quality of sound is definitely key in this decision. What kind of system do you have?

Subject: Re: What matters most to you?
Posted by mamoss on Wed, 04 Oct 2017 16:26:46 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Well, gone are the days when most folks would just walk into a store, pick up a system, and walk away.

Nowadays, there's a greater need to critically look at the basics and settle for something that meets all the requirements.

Above all, it is advisable to still compare prices of the same item. A better deal is always around the corner.

Subject: Re: What matters most to you?
Posted by Ziggy on Thu, 05 Oct 2017 00:03:41 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I'm so impressed with the knowledge of the people on this forum. It is amazing to read the different suggestions and tips for different. I was one of the people who just bought it and plugged it in but no more. Thanks.

Subject: Re: What matters most to you?
Posted by drake on Thu, 05 Oct 2017 05:44:30 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Well, we all make mistakes at some point. I remember once making the mistake of buying a system, just because I'd seen it at a friend's house. I got more enlightened and nowadays I look at every detail, including things like warranty and easy of use.

Subject: Re: What matters most to you?
Posted by Prince on Thu, 03 Sep 2026 06:33:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Ziggy wrote on Wed, 04 October 2017 19:03I'm so impressed with the knowledge of the people on this forum. It is amazing to read the different suggestions and tips for different. I was one of the people who just bought it and plugged it in but no more. Thanks.
I've learnt a lot by being here as well. This is the place to be for anyone who likes and enjoys audio related discussions. No one would regret joining here at all.