This is for anyone with young men or women who will be going to college soon. Or anyone who knows someone else who has kids at that age.

Here is a link to a scholarship that is audio based, although you don't have to be pursuing a degree in the audio field.

This is not a merit based scholarship, this is essay based. You can also apply for it once a year. This year, the topic of the essay is "What is the best music for learning?"

Any and all suggestions will be appreciated. I am all about education and helping others in that pursuit.
