I like to tune my own guitar, but it doesn't sound okay after I tuned it. What should I do in order to train my ear in the correct tuning of my guitar or other musical instruments?

I also don't know how to tune musical instruments. However, there are tuning apps that you can download to your phone and that can help you tune your guitar.

You can also buy a tuning fork and you can tune your own voice with it. When you get used to the correct note, then you can also tune any musical instrument to the right tune.

Thanks for your suggestions. I will go with the tuning app because I've searched for the tuning forks and they are expensive. The app is easier to install on my phone.
