Subject: Newfound love for previously hated songs
Posted by Pato on Tue, 23 Oct 2018 21:58:16 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

When I was younger, there were some songs that I could not stand, and never understood why they were loved so much. But when I listen to some of those songs nowadays, I find them really enjoyable. Does this drastic change in taste come with maturity? Maybe my musical mind was just not well developed back then.