
Subject: Saw Violin
Posted by Jethro on Thu, 08 Nov 2018 23:15:43 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Have you guys seen this type of violin? I saw it (no pun intended) in one of the videos of "Got Talent" shows. I am imagining an orchestra with utensils and tools used as musical instruments.

Subject: Re: Saw Violin
Posted by Rusty on Fri, 09 Nov 2018 15:45:45 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

My grandfather was suppose to have some talent playing the saw. He played fiddle, which comes in right handy. You ever see the movie One Flew Over The Cuckoo's Nest? The opening and closing of the film features the bow saw. It can sound spooky and melancholy.
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=M7aIU4al3UQ>

Subject: Re: Saw Violin
Posted by Jethro on Sun, 11 Nov 2018 11:28:27 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Thanks for sharing that music. It is my first time to hear this music. It does sound spooky, but it doesn't give me the creeps.

I'm afraid to try it as I might break the saw when bending it.

Subject: Re: Saw Violin
Posted by Rusty on Sun, 11 Nov 2018 14:21:24 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Give it a go Jethro. It's only a saw. Check out this tutorial from the saw lady. Then, observe some old boy doing Over The Rainbow with his crosscut.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=zgU2C2FozHk>

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=EE2nFMHRacg>

It's a link with the past, these rudimentary instruments made out of found objects. People before the advent of electronics would create their own musical expression with whatever they could cobble together. We'd be better for it to do the same.

Subject: Re: Saw Violin
Posted by Reggie on Mon, 12 Nov 2018 00:07:29 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I reckon that our musical instruments today started as common materials in the old days. I wonder how the first person who made the violin used the hair of a horse to use as its bow.

Subject: Re: Saw Violin

Posted by Jethro on Mon, 12 Nov 2018 10:51:05 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I love the "Somewhere Over The Rainbow" rendition with a saw violin. The vibration of the saw made the music perfect.

My saw is rusty now (no pun intended again) so I have to buy a new one to try playing a saw violin.

Subject: Re: Saw Violin

Posted by Junior on Mon, 19 Nov 2018 07:29:56 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I never thought that this kind of violin has been used in the old days. I knew about this way of playing the saw just lately. Is there a specific kind of saw that will produce such sound?

Subject: Re: Saw Violin

Posted by Rusty on Mon, 19 Nov 2018 17:56:37 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I did a simple google search for musical saw, and you can buy em off Amazon or other sources. Or, as this little web page suggests, make your own bow and head down to the hardware store and try out the hand saw section for a saw of your liking. Any way you want to do it, it can be done.

<http://www.dennishavlena.com/saw.htm>

Subject: Re: Saw Violin

Posted by Junior on Tue, 20 Nov 2018 14:07:45 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Thanks for the link Rusty. I will try making my own musical saw. Do you think a longer saw is so much better than the shorter one? I may have to try the shorter one to find this out.

Subject: Re: Saw Violin

Posted by Rusty on Tue, 20 Nov 2018 16:54:51 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Just do a google search for musical saw, there's plenty of info to get you started if your serious. Then, head for the hardware store and start bowing their products. Course, they may not like seeing you torque their saws between your legs and hand to get that gentle "S" curve to make it resonate. Be discreet, if possible.
