Subject: Movie and music streaming services
Posted by Augustus on Sat, 11 May 2019 03:46:15 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Which services do you use for streaming movies and music? I'm subscribed to way to many entertainment services and will probably cut out CBS All Access since I had it for Star Trek: Discovery and wasn't that into the show this past season. I'm subscribed to SiriusXM for satellite radio and it's a keeper in my opinion. I feel the same about Netflix and it's the service I use most often. Have you ever been disappointed in one of the services you've used?

Subject: Re: Movie and music streaming services
Posted by Rusty on Sat, 11 May 2019 14:56:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yes. Netflix. I used the free period to evaluate it. And after enjoying just a smidgen of their offerings cancelled. I'm a cheapskate though, and on a fixed income now, so, if I'm paying for something, I want to use it. Never tried radio subscription. If I drove a lot I suppose I could appreciate it's offerings. I think it's interesting how services now are pay to play. It's becoming pervasive. Seems to me, ones budget could get compromised if you didn't keep a check on all these monthly service charges becoming cumulatively a burden.

Subject: Re: Movie and music streaming services
Posted by Madison on Mon, 13 May 2019 05:01:27 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have access to Amazon Prime Video and Amazon Prime Music as part of Amazon Prime. I rarely use either one of those perks though. I watch Netflix regularly and I subscribe to Hulu on and off. It probably sounds like a lot, but I have elderly family members here who are pretty much immobile and don't feel like interacting much. Watching movies is how they stay entertained.

Subject: Re: Movie and music streaming services
Posted by mamoss on Mon, 03 Jun 2019 10:51:18 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I used the free period for Netflix and Showmax and settled for the former, but just for a while. It makes sense to sign up for these services, when there's enough time to spare. I have also not tried radio subscription before.